

U. S. SENATORS DEFY DANGER IN AIR RAID

Kenyon and Kendrick Leave Beds to Watch Germans Over London.

PAY TRIBUTE TO PEOPLE

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, November 2.—United States Senators William S. Kenyon of Iowa and John B. Kendrick of Wyoming have passed unscathed through their second air raid experience in London. On the first occasion they were attending a dinner given at the Athenaeum Club by the lord high chancellor in honor of the visiting congressmen, and Wednesday night they were asleep in their suite on the top floor of a substantial seven-story hotel when they were awakened by the coming of the Germans and the consequent bombardment.

Kenyon and Kendrick left their beds to watch the Germans over London. The senators, at great risk of injury from flying shrapnel, watched the spectacle. "It was our first air raid experience at close quarters," Senator Kenyon told the Associated Press. "and we welcomed it in the sense that it served us for our coming visit to the trenches in France and Belgium. The thing that impressed me most was the fortitude of the English people. Their coolness was nothing short of marvelous. The bravery of their women especially excited my admiration. If the purpose of the Germans is to break the nerve of the English people what I have just seen convinces me that they have failed utterly."

"While we stood catching cold and watching the bombardment I was wondering how our people would behave under similar circumstances. I turned to Kendrick and remarked that if the people of the United States displayed the same iron nerve, which I am confident they would, the allied cause is in no danger."

Women Talk of Theater.
Senator Kendrick interrupted, remarking that he had overheard women folk walking through the corridors of the hotel during the raid calmly discussing the theatrical performances from which they had just returned.

This remarkable photograph pictures some of the less familiar phases of naval operations going on in foreign waters.

Katherine Travers, who at the same time shot and killed Phil E. Tucker, a broker, lived in this city until three years ago. She was born near here twenty-eight years ago. With the death of her mother, Miss Cunningham came to Indiana to live. She attended a local business college and was later employed as a stenographer here.

Portrait of Gen. Pershing on View.
PARIS, November 2.—A full-length portrait of Gen. Pershing by Micheline Resco is being shown at an exhibition of contemporary artists. After looking at his portrait Gen. Pershing turned to Mlle. Resco and complimented her, saying his only criticism was that the picture was too flattering.

Says Resources Are Exhausted.
"We have practically exhausted our own resources," continued Prince Sapieha, "and only the Americans can help us. For three years Poland has been struggling, but the bills for three-fourths of the money coming from the outside; but this winter it cannot be done. We pray that the winter will be a mild one, for that is our only hope. Our cities are bankrupt and cannot even support the asylums. Three days before I left Warsaw the authorities of the 512 asylums that we help to support came to me and said that as Warsaw was unable to contribute anything they must have $50,000 by December 1 or they would have to close the asylums. That means that $5,000 children will be put into the streets. 'One dollar per child per month can save these children. Every dollar given thus will be equivalent to the gift of one child to the Polish nation. Compare the huge costs of destroying humanity in this war with the little it takes to save humanity. One of the most effective ways of saving children is to put them on farms. The peasants are glad to accept them and find food for them. At first the parents objected and said, 'If we must starve let us starve together.' Now they are willing to give up the children. They say, 'We are willing to starve if we can save our children.'"

PEOPLE OF POLAND STARVING, HE SAYS

Prince Sapieha Appeals to American Red Cross in Switzerland for Aid.

BY OSWALD F. SCHUETTE.
Chablaram to The Evening Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1917. ZURNICH, Switzerland, November 2.—Prince Sapieha, president of the general Polish relief committee in Warsaw, is here to confer with the American Red Cross officials in the hope of securing immediate financial help for starving Poland. This is in addition to the food which the Red Cross, with the assistance of the American State Department, is trying to send to the dying children in the unfortunate state. He brought statistics to show that the spread of tuberculosis and other contagious diseases are such as to make immediate assistance imperative, because winter is at hand and the situation desperate. He said that if money were now available they could save thousands of children for whom the food to be sent later on would come too late.

30,000 Children on Farms.
"We put 30,000 children on farms, but we have to stop because the farmers say that while they are glad to accept the children, these must be clothed, and the farmers have nothing to give them. That means that $3,000 children will be put into the streets. 'One dollar per child per month can save these children. Every dollar given thus will be equivalent to the gift of one child to the Polish nation. Compare the huge costs of destroying humanity in this war with the little it takes to save humanity. One of the most effective ways of saving children is to put them on farms. The peasants are glad to accept them and find food for them. At first the parents objected and said, 'If we must starve let us starve together.' Now they are willing to give up the children. They say, 'We are willing to starve if we can save our children.'"

Notes Spread of Tuberculosis.
"We need so many things. With the spread of tuberculosis we must keep the children affected with the disease out of the asylums and we have no hospitals for them and we have no means of spreading. We must have asylums for delinquents to prevent the corruption of good children, but we have no money. The sight of our suffering little ones would soften the hardest heart. Poland's future depends upon the children and it takes so little to save them. Please help us if you can." Red Cross officials here have called the details to the American State Department and hope to receive word that action has been taken both for meeting immediate needs and for sending food, clothing and medicine.

We shall always think of thee.
BY HER LOVING WIFE AND DAUGHTERS EDNA AND LULA.

BROWN. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear daughter and mother, MABLE BROWN, who departed this life one year ago today, November 2, 1916.
Thou art gone, but not forgotten;
As long as there is memory
We shall always think of thee.
BY HER LOVING MOTHER AND FATHER AND HER DAUGHTER.

COVINGTON. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear brother, BENJAMIN COVINGTON, who departed this life one year ago today, November 2, 1916.
BY HIS WIFE AND FAMILY.

DELANEY. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear brother, ROBERT DELANEY, who entered into rest two years ago today, November 2, 1915.
Two long years ago today
God called you home to rest.
When the forest cast the leaf,
And the birds sang their last song,
And, oh, how lonely has been our home,
BY LOVING SISTER HATTIE.

ELLIOTT. In loving remembrance of RABBIT C. ELLIOTT, who left us two years ago today, November 2, 1915.
There is grief that cannot be comforted
And words that cannot be heard,
And a heart that is broken and a heart that is sad,
That cannot be revealed.
When love has bound the heart,
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the words,
"I will forever miss you."
BY HIS FRIEND, MINNIE MORRIS.

HOWES. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and our father, WILLIAM F. HOWES, who died two years ago today, November 2, 1915.
In the cold, moist earth we laid him,
When the forest cast the leaf,
And we wept that one so lovely
Should have a life so brief.
BY HIS LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

MOSE. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear mother, HANNAH MOSE, who died two years ago today, November 2, 1915.
I cannot see the face of her,
Where she, my loved, has gone;
The shadows now obscure my day,
My soul cries out, "Alone!"
Although I cannot trace the way,
I'll wait her beckoning hand,
I know her soul will speak to me
And some day I shall understand.
BY HER DAUGHTER, GEORGETTE.

PARKER. In loving remembrance of my dear father, CHARLES H. PARKER, who died two years ago today, November 2, 1915.
BY HIS DAUGHTERS, GERTIE AND MARIE.

SALTER. In sad but loving remembrance of a dear friend, MARION T. SALTER, who departed this life one year ago today, November 2, 1916.
Dear one, how we miss you and all that you said,
God took you to Him, His debt all things paid.
We humbly submit to His will, for it is His best,
And so we will in His love rest.
BY A DEVOTED WIFE AND DAUGHTERS, MAMIE AND EVELYN SALTER.

WHITE. In memory of our loving mother, MABEL WHITE, who died three years ago today, November 2, 1914.
Oh, could we open wide the grave
And see her face once more,
And hear her voice once more,
As in the days of yore.
BY HER DEVOTED CHILDREN.

A Time That Puts Men--and Clothes--to the Test

THIS is a time for quality in men—and things. Every man must do his duty; every dollar must do its duty. If you are serving your country in uniform—on land or sea—we have the uniform that measures up to the test of character that the man in it must answer to when he answers America's call. If you are the man serving in business—and wear simply the uniform of a well dressed man—we have that, too. And it's a suit that will stand the test of service, too—because the reputation of the make takes care of that—Society Brand and Aristocrat-ic.

Keep your eyes open this season—some makers haven't been so particular about maintaining their standards; wool is scarce and high—so are the other things that enter into the making of a suit. We stand back of our clothes the same as we always did—and you know in what a liberal spirit we interpret "satisfaction to the customer."
